Kambo Talk Radio

Seattle, WA April 10, 2017

IAKP Kambo Practitioner, Ginny Rutherford, and Professional Psychic, Todd Rohlsson, have come together for a lively discussion of alternative healing medicines from the Amazon, particularly the healing medicine from the Giant Monkey Tree Frog, Kambo. Their goal is to educate, inspire and to share with humanity their personal experiences and discuss the benefits of Kambo medicina with intuitive insight and tribal knowledge that spans thousands of years.

Each week they will have guests from all over the world who are leaders in this emerging medicine, they will interview those who have taken this medicine and their particular results and take calls from listeners who have questions as to their own energy systems and how kambo can be of benefit.

This is an educational and informational program designed to discuss Kambo medicine with real life discussions and practical knowledge, its uses, the science behind it, its origins from the Amazonian tribes, and direct intuitive knowledge from other levels of consciousness. While discussing the new frequencies, spiritually and how kambo realigns to the true self, Ginny and Todd will bring their knowledge, experience and a lot of humor to the discussion.

About Ginny Rutherford:

Ginny Rutherford worked as an interior designer for 20 years, creating beautiful sacred space for her clients. Over time, she realized that a person's outer space was a reflection of their inner space, and she became much more fascinated with inner space and its effects in her clients' lives.

One day, Ginny woke up hearing a clear voice telling her she needed to go to Peru. Her first response was, Who said that? But the feeling was so insistent that she soon found herself in the jungle joining indigenous shamans in ceremonies using ayahuasca, a healing plant of the Amazon. Her research into ayahuasca led her to discover kambo, and after experiencing it she felt powerfully called to this sacred healing and cleansing medicine from the Amazonian jungle. After apprenticing with master kambo practitioner, Simon Scott, Ginny completed the International Association of Kambo Practitioners (IAKP) training with Karen Darke, a world leader in kambo medicine.

Ginny now carries the sacred medicine of Kambo into the world to help people release their blocks and receive the clarity they need to move their life forward. She is also a certified transformational life coach and an advanced student of Gnosis Tarot, which she has studied for the past 5 years with Francis Ayley.

This new episode will air twice a month to keep people on the path to higher energy and a better life.
