About Maria Monti

Maria Monti is a bra specialist with 16 years of experience in fitting and training others, as well as over one thousand fitting hours all combined. She is first, and foremost, a professional Postural Therapist with 27 years of experience in analyzing posture and designing corrective exercise programs to relieve the stress and strain of the daily postural duress on the body.

With her experience in assessing posture and re-aligning the human structure, fitting bras was a natural accompaniment. Creating a "highly personalized fitting opportunity" for potential bra customers to receive the benefits for custom fitting naturally came next.

We have been featured in the medical reference book "High Heels to Hormones: A Woman's Guide to Spine Care" by Dr. Christine Lasich.

In 2008, we were interviewed TWICE on the educational talk show "First Talk with Tamara Bull" for APTN TV, Canada, which then shared it with its US affiliates beginning in 2015.
