Transcending the Trauma of the Human Experience

Seattle, WA, July 6th, 2018

Attorney Megan Lyons brings her background in family law and personal experiences with dealing with narcissists, psychopaths, and sociopaths to help those suffering from emotional trauma. This hit show will help you discover the tools that will help unlock the power awaiting within you. Healing is physical, emotional, and spiritual. This show delivers inspiration and information to help find peace, harmony and balance on all levels. The best way to heal is through personal and intimate emotional connection and the expression of genuine empathy.

Topics range from practical tools to take legal action on your own behalf, prepping for your day in court, to the everyday emotional challenges you face and how to overcome and transcend to a better future. It is time to take your power back.

About Megan Lyons

Megan Lyons was born in Buffalo, New York with an insatiable hunger for knowledge and a deep passion for establishing intimate and profound relationships with other human beings. From a very young age, Megan expressed her inner most emotions and thoughts through the modality of the written word, in the form of creative short stories and poetry. Her personality from a young age was characterized by empathy and concern for the well being of others, namely those individuals who were marginalized or ostracized in some way for various reasons.

Her innate talent and magnetism toward the art of writing naturally attracted her to the prestigious Kenyon College, sometimes known as the Harvard of the Midwest. This enriching experience vested her with the ability to articulate well, perfect her passion for writing and most of all, the ethereal experience of establishing long lasting relationships with people who exemplified integrity, kindness, and compassion.

After completing her collegiate tenure with a concentration in psychology and Spanish literature, Megan listened to the sage advice of her parents who were zealous advocates of the infinite benefits that a law school education would bestow upon her.

Megan worked at several small law firms in Orlando when she moved to Florida and started her own firm in 2012 focusing on primarily bankruptcy and general civil matters. She was featured on WFTV Channel 9 as a Legal Expert for bankruptcy in which her blogs and articles were published for the public. She introduced family law into her practice and found that she could integrate much of her deep knowledge of psychology and the human condition into her role as a counselor. Her clients appreciate the intimacy of the firm and the genuine concern that Megan has for the best interest of the families that she represents. Megan's most recent passion is focused on individual healing, self development, and self empowerment through various holistic means. Megan is currently working to launch workshops, seminars and retreats that specifically focus on healing from an emotionally and psychologically abusive relationship and uncovering the deeper psychological proclivity that manifests the toxic behavioral pattern. Through personal experience and extensive research, Megan is extremely well versed in the study of narcissism and how covert and malignant narcissistic abuse can have deleterious effects on a victim. Megan is extremely passionate about imparting her knowledge to victims and survivors of this very insidious type of abuse that is pervading our society by arming them with the tools to heal and find inner peace and happiness through loving the self.

About Sarasota Law Firm
